

YRC Worldwide Recognized By CIO Magazine as One of the CIO 100 Award Honorees

OVERLAND PARK, Kan., Aug. 15 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- YRC Worldwide Inc. (Nasdaq: YRCW) announced today that it has been named a recipient of the 2006 CIO 100 award. The annual award program recognizes organizations around the world that exemplify the highest level of operational and strategic excellence in information technology (IT).

"Year after year, the CIO 100 award recipients serve as industry role models for business and IT excellence," said Abbie Lundberg, Editor in Chief of CIO magazine. "This year's winners are particularly remarkable for their ability to translate IT innovation into business value and solid ROI."

"We know that innovative solutions are needed to drive revenue and provide enhanced capability to our customers," said Michael Rapken, Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer of YRC Worldwide. "Development of the Roadway Corporate Solutions Center application, for which we received this award, presented a challenge that was both technical and cultural in nature. Today, the impact of the program is clear and impressive, demonstrating the value of IT for our customers and our corporation."

"We are honored to receive this recognition again this year," said Bill Zollars, Chairman, President and CEO of YRC Worldwide. "This award validates our continued dedication to finding innovative technology solutions that serve our core purpose of making global commerce work by connecting people, places and information."

The 2006 CIO 100 awards will be presented at the Hotel Del Coronado in San Diego, California, on August 22 at the conclusion of the eighth annual CIO 100 Symposium® and Awards Ceremony.

About the CIO 100

The recipients of this year's CIO 100 award were selected through a three- step process. First, companies filled out an online application form detailing their innovative practices in both business and IT. Next, teams of CIO magazine editors and writers reviewed the applications in depth, looking for unique practices and substantial results. Finally, the teams met for a day-long meeting to debate the merits of each nominee and vote on the final 100. Once the top 100 honorees were selected, several honorees were chosen to receive an additional special award.

To provide a vision of ever-changing business trends, the focus of the CIO 100 changes annually. Complete coverage of the 2006 CIO 100 awards will be in the August 15 issue of CIO magazine and available online at <http://www.cio.com> on August 15.
